What’s the difference between the PIXIE online training and face to face training?

PIXIE Training · https://pixiepartners.com.au/support-docs/whats-the-difference-between-the-pixie-online-training-and-face-to-face-training/

Introduction

SAL conducts 2 types of training for the PIXIE smart home system for electricians.

One is face to face and practical.

The other is delivered completely online.

Face to face PIXIE smart home Training

The face to face training takes about 2 hours and is a practical walk through and training of the basics of PIXIE.

Trainees are taken through step by step for 3 key products - dimmers switch and multifunction controller.

They also learn how to use the PIXIE App in details.

The PIXIE equipment that is used during the training is kept by the participants and can be used as they wish.

This training is free and takes about 2 hours.

Trainees are expected to join the PIXIE Partners Rewards program which is also free.

Register here for your state.

Online PIXIE Training

The online training course consists of about 50 fast and quick video lessons.

This training provides everything there is to know about evert PIXIE products available as well as access to all documents, videos.

This training is more comprehensive than the face to face training but lacks the practical applications.

Once completed successfully a free PIXIE Starter kit is sent to the graduate.

Register for online training here